City Annexes 80 Acres Proposed For Development

By HARRY BARNES
Press-Record Staff Writer

A rezoning and annexation proposal that caused nearly an hour of debate and was deferred without action in a meeting two weeks ago was approved by the Granite City council Monday night without discussion and without a dissenting vote.

The action annexes to Granite City and rezones an 80-acre tract of land proposed for development of a multi-million dollar apartment building and shopping center complex.

The tract is located south of Ponton Road and west of the right-of-way of the Alton & Southern Railroad crossing.

In contrast to their reception of the proposals two weeks ago, when several council members protested development of the area would create serious drainage problems, the aldermen voted unanimously Monday night to suspend the rules and give final passage to both ordinances—a rezoning of the tract and the other annexing the tract to Granite City.

Two Zoning Classes

Council members first approved the ordinance rezoning the tract to C-2 (commercial) for that part designated for construction of the shopping center and to R-5 (multiple residential) for the sector in which apartment buildings are to be built. The ordinance annexing the 80-acre area to the city was then adopted.

The ordinances were presented by Alderman Paul Schuler, chairman of the Ordinance Committee. A second to both motions was offered by Alderman Gerald Parney, whose motion for a deferral suspended action on the bills in the Dec. 7 council session.

The newly annexed tract is owned by Leo Wolf, Granite City contractor and developer, who said he plans to build an apartment complex of 500 units of varying design—possibly including one or more high-rise buildings—on part of the land. A shopping center also is designed for another portion of the tract, requiring slightly less than half of the 80-acre land area, Wolf said.

The rezoning and annexation had been approved by the City Plan Commission which recommended adoption of the ordinances by the council.

Predict Drainage Problems

Objections to the proposal projected by several council members in the Dec. 7 meeting were based on a lack of plans for handling stormwater drainage in the area.

Parney and Schuler expressed the belief that development of the area would create drainage problems that would flood other areas in the vicinity of the development tract.

Wolf said that plans for the development have not been prepared in detail since it was necessary to acquire the rezoning and annexation as the first step in the program. He said, however, that complete provisions will be made to meet all drainage problems.

Mayor Donald Parney pointed out that all plans and specifications

Council Irks City Planners

A warning that members of the City Plan Commission "are seriously considering resigning" unless the Granite City council abandons a practice of bypassing the commission in matters involving zoning and issuance of use permits was given council members in regular meeting Monday night.

The notice came in a letter written by Boyd Presley, planning commission chairman, who referred to two incidents in which the council acted in the Dec. 7 council meeting on matters involving special use permits without recommendations from the commission.

In a separate report that accompanied Presley's letter, the plan commission members reported they had investigated the zoning in which the council already had approved the issuance of a use permit, and recommended that the request be denied.

Presley told the council in his letter that "the Granite City Plan Commission Board is rather disturbed that the city council would act on a request before their (the plan commission) recommendation on the matter had been passed."

Council Granted Permit

The plan commission chairman informed the aldermen that he was instructed to tell the council in regard to the matter after the commission learned in a meeting Dec. 10 that a use permit had been granted by council action Dec.

Weather Slows Search For Missing Couple

Efforts to locate the former Miss Dale Reed Kaseberg and her husband, Dan Smith, whose private plane developed engine trouble in Alaska Dec. 6, have been hampered by poor weather and low visibility. It was reported today that the United States Air Force and Civil Air Patrol have been searching the area where it is believed the plane may have crashed when weather permitted, but flights in recent days have had to be cancelled by fog, rain and snow. A blizzard in the area was reported Monday.

One week ago, radio operators in the area located what sounded like a homing signal of the type used in the private plane and the area where the signal was originating was pinpointed, but an extensive search of the area has been impossible.

The couple flew from Naknek to Anchorage on the morning of Dec. 6 and at 4:45 on the return trip, they reported engine trouble. Smith radioed they were in trouble and that the plane was in trouble. They were received by Mrs. Smith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard W. Kaseberg, Rural Route One, Granite City, had received no further word today concerning the missing couple.

Hilt Gets Assessing Job

By MARION BARTOSIAK
Press-Record Staff Writer

Appointment of Dale Hilt as Madison County's first supervisor of assessments and a decision to purchase new voting machines which were leased for the Nov. 3 election were among major actions of the Madison County Board of Supervisors Tuesday morning.

Hilt, clerk of the Board of Review and a former clerk of the probate court, will continue to serve as clerk of the review board in the $14,000 a year position.

He received the nod by a 29-15 vote of the board over Lester K. Kline of Edwardsville. Both had received certification from the Illinois Division of Local Government Services. The Office after passing a qualification grade, Hilt had received a grade of 71 and Kline 70, which was the minimum passing score.

Some members of the board called for a secret ballot, but Marshall Smith, assistant state attorney and the board's legal advisor, insisted that a secret ballot would be illegal, and that the people had a right to know how their representatives vote.

A voice roll call was taken, and the contract with the Shoup Co., manufacturer of the machines, which had leased them to the board voted for Hilt.

Immediately after the vote, it was announced that the Board of Review will be unable to complete work on tax assessment books by the Dec. 31 deadline and was authorized to ask for a 30-day extension.

Following the success of voting machines at the general election, the board authorized a resolution to negotiate a contract with the Shoup Co., manufacturer of the machines, which had leased them to the board with an option to buy.

It was announced that the Board of Review will be unable to complete work on tax assessment books by the Dec. 31 deadline and was authorized to ask for a 30-day extension.

Caine Steel Co. Plans New $500,000 Addition

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Staff Writer

The Madison City Council, meeting last night, approved procedure clearing the way for Caine Steel Co., located in Stephen Maers Industrial Park, to construct a $500,000 building adjacent to its present plant in the city-owned park.

The resolution specifies the company may finance the new building through the Mercantile Trust Bank in St. Louis. It provides that after the loan is repaid the building ownership would revert to the City of Madison.

It also provides an option by which the company may elect to own the two buildings by paying $62,000 cash immediately and increasing its monthly rental from the present $72,368 to $103,383 for the next 18 years.

With the $144,726 the city already has received from the company in rent, the total received by the city under the new plan would be $2,067,670. If the company should elect to purchase the buildings, they would actually pay only $31,000 more than under the plan which gives the city final ownership.

Would Pay Tax

The city hopes the company will accept the purchase option, not only to receive the additional revenue, but to also when the tax base at the end of the 20 years when the company begins paying property tax on the buildings, according to Mayor Mike Sasyk.

The letter of intent is not binding upon the council or Caine Steel Co., but serves only to make the wishes of the city known to company officials in advance of the preparation of a new lease agreement, the mayor said.

In other business the council voted to pay $34,000 dollars to the L. L. Wolf Construction Co., as the final payment for work done on the Diamond Plating Co., Inc. building in the industrial park. Another $3,842 was appropriated to pay the interest on a $100,000 loan the company made to buy materials to complete the building.

The council also voted to reduce the rent on the Diamond Plating operation 50% for the six month period from November 1970 to April 1971 if the company would agree to pay 150% rent from May 1971, through October.

In effect, the city would receive the regular monthly rent of $3,842 but it would receive only $1,921 for the first six months and $3,742 for the second six months.

The action was taken to help relieve financial pressures on the company caused when the city was unable to obtain a $200,000 loan for equipment and the company was forced to make the loan itself. Under the agreement, the equipment will become the property of the company when the loan is repaid.

Housing Program Ready

Preparation of a workable community improvement program for presentation to the department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) was completed this week by the consulting firm of Leo A. Daly Co., St. Louis, and the city.

Approval of the comprehensive program is required before the city may apply for federal grants for an urban redevelopment program and a housing code enforcement program.

The workable program "sets forth what the city presently is doing, and what it plans to do, and planning and zoning and relocation planning and asks for a report on the progress of a citizen advisory group for community improvement."

A ceiling of $180,000 is recommended in the program for code enforcement and renewal programs. Approval of the document will not provide funds to begin the projects but will clear the way for specific grants to be requested. It takes from six months to two years to have a workable program approved, and quite often HUD will require the requests unapproved for revisions, city officials said.

If grants are sought in the future for the two projects and the amount is approved, the city would need to raise $75,000 cash and credit to pay its share of the projects. Credits can be obtained by sewer, street and other projects accomplished within three years preceding the filing date.

It is anticipated that the city will have about $25,000 in credit when the programs are filed, making it necessary for the city to raise about $50,000, most of it through a bond issue, to complete the projects.

Joint City Plan for More Court Space is Proposed

An effort to provide suitable court facilities in the Quad-Cities under a program sponsored jointly by Granite City, Madison and Venice was initiated by the Granite City council Monday night to avert removal of the circuit and magistrate courts from the area.

The action was taken on the suggestion of Alderman Sam Whitmer, chairman of the City Hall Committee, who told the council that his committee had met on the matter with Chief Circuit Judge William Beatty and is convinced that Judge Beatty "means business" in securing more adequate court facilities.

"Judge Beatty means what he says when he warns that the courts will be taken out of Granite City if we don't provide better accommodation," Whitmer said.

Whitmer asked Mayor Don Parney what he thought of the suggestion that Granite City, Madison and Venice "get together" to determine what might be done.

"It's all right," the mayor said, "if you can find any place that has enough room. They have half of this building (the city hall) now."

Mayor Parney said he would favor the idea of taking the circuit court out of the third floor area of the city hall and turning those facilities over to the magistrate court.

The council, on a motion by Whitmer, authorized the mayor to meet with Mayor Mike Sasyk of Madison and Mayor John E. Lee of Venice to discuss a possible solution of the problem.

Judge Beatty informed the city council two weeks ago that unless steps were taken to expand court facilities, particularly those of the magistrate court, the courts would be removed from Granite City.

Regional Report -- Authority to Proceed with Airport Plan

A new constitution, most parts of which will become effective in July 1971, was adopted last week by the voters of the State of Illinois.

The voters of Cook County residents for the new constitution overcame the opposition expressed in most of the remainder of the state. Voters in Madison and St. Clair counties opposed the adoption of the new constitution by a four to one margin.

The attorney general of the state of Missouri announced that the city of St. Louis has authority from the legislature to contract with the state of Illinois for the planning, development and construction of a public airport located in Illinois.

The attorney general's opinion was requested by a Missouri legislator who opposes the creation of the proposed new airport in Illinois.

The opinion also indicated that the city of St. Louis has the authority to participate financially in the new airport if the city is part owner of the facility.

According to plans announced several months ago by Governor Ogilvie and Mayor Carver, the airport will be financed by revenue bonds issued by the St. Louis Metropolitan Area Airport Authority.

The Airport Authority itself voted to fund half of the cost of a study to determine the feasibility of constructing an intermodal terminal at the new airport, and heard descriptions from two firms on the environmental studies that must be completed before approval for the airport site can be obtained from the Federal Aviation Administration.

The Regional Industrial Development Corporation was granted half of the cost of a $65,000 study on the feasibility of the intermodal terminal concept contingent upon RIDC obtaining the remaining $47,000 from other sources.

The study would involve contacting air and truck carriers and operators of railroads and pipelines to determine the use that would be made of the proposed intermodal terminal.

The environmental study, which may be done by either Arthur D. Little or R. Dixon Speas, will consider such aspects as air and water pollution, weather modifications, and the impact of the new airport on plants, wildlife and recreation at three proposed airport sites.

The environmental study may not be completed until April, at which time the announcement of the location of the airport would be made.

Bids on four highway projects worth over $10 million were rejected by the Illinois Division of Highways. The bids were between 195% and 275% over the state's estimates of the costs of the projects.

Included in the projects was construction of pavement on relocated Route 143 northwest of Edwardsville and connectors to the Poplar St. bridge in East St. Louis.

A Belleville manufacturer, the Marsh Steel Machine Co., has received a presidential award in recognition of its contribution to increasing sales of American products overseas.

In 1969, Marsh's foreign sales represented over 20% of its total sales. This firm manufactures special cutting machines, shipping supplies and felt point markers.

The 1971 Mississippi River Festival moved closer to becoming reality with the announcement that the 1971 Festival showed a profit of $8,401.

Half the income for running this year's festival came from contributions.

Three of the officers of the 1971 Festival season are associated with Granite City firms; they are Nicholas Veeder of Granite City Steel Co., C. E. Townsend of the Press-Reich and Ernest Karandjoff of the Granite City Trust and Savings Bank.

The St. Clair County Zoning Board of Appeals has taken under advisement the rezoning of an area for a shopping center to include a department store, and the rezoning of another area on the Old Collinsville Road for a 174-unit apartment complex.

The shopping center, proposed for Illinois 161 and Royal Heights Road, is being opposed by some residents on the grounds that the new commercial facility would bring additional traffic and noise into the area and would be a safety hazard to children attending two nearby schools.

At the zoning hearing, representatives of the stores indicated that they are no longer considering a site at Illinois 111 and St. Clair Ave. as a location for a store.

The Illinois Supreme Court has ordered the four East Side Levee and Sanitary District trustees to show by Jan. 5 why they should not be removed from office because of convictions on charges of official misconduct.

By a unanimous vote, the Supreme Court granted the St. Clair County state's attorney the right to seek a writ of prohibition against the Appellate Court ruling that allows the trustees to stay in office pending the outcome of their appeals.

In general area news, workers at the A. O. Smith plant in Granite City have voted to have the United Auto Workers Union as their representative.

And John Gitchof of Granite City has been elected chairman of the newly-created Madison County Public Building Commission.

Former GC Man Named School District Head

Jack S. Roper, a former resident of Granite City, has been named superintendent of the Huntington Beach Union High School District at Huntington Beach, Calif.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Roper of Orange, Calif., who moved from Granite City to the west coast about 10 years ago.

Roper, 38, a graduate of Granite City High School, was a deputy county superintendent of schools in California and the first president and superintendent of the Saddleback Junior College District in California. He turned down a three-year contract to continue in that post in June, 1968.

Roper also has served as assistant superintendent with the Tustin Union High School District, assistant superintendent of the 52-square-mile Huntington Beach district, the former local resident succeeds Dr. Max Forney, now a professor at the University of Guam. He will assume fulltime duties as superintendent on Feb. 1.

One Permit Approved, Two Denied by Board

One petition for a special use permit was approved and two were denied by the Madison County Board of Supervisors Tuesday on the recommendation of the County Zoning Board of Appeals.

Elby J. and Minerva Coffey, owners, and Patricia A. and M. S. Solenberg, occupants, received approval to place a mobile home in an R-3 one-family residence district in Nameoki Township.

Denied were requests of: Rino Zucchet, owner, to place a solid waste material landfill in an M-2 general manufacturing district and an agricultural district in Nameoki Township.

Rill Contracting Co., owner, and Hedwig Laird and Jean Michael, purchasers, to operate a beauty shop in an R-4 single-family residence district in Nameoki Township.

At the zoning hearing, representatives of the stores indicated that they are no longer considering a site at Illinois 111 and St. Clair Ave. as a location for a store.

Arch Trains Idle on Christmas, New Year's

The Gateway Arch Passenger Transportation System will be closed on both Christmas and New Year's Day, but will resume as usual from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on Christmas Eve and New Year's Eve. The Transportation System, operated by Bi-State Development Agency, will continue on the 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. schedule through next April 30.

Since the average round trip to the observation platform 630 feet above the city requires 20 minutes, ticket sales are suspended daily in time to permit all ticket holders to make the trip up the Arch and return. Approximately 2.5 million visitors have made the trip to the top of the nation's tallest monument on the riverfront since it began operating in July 1967.

Accident Prevention In the Home Stressed

Some women who wouldn't think of gambling will be playing accident roulette this winter. They'll take that extra chance that a home accident won't happen. Ted Eilerman, St. Elizabeth Hospital assistant administrator, said after reviewing the number of emergencies treated recently at the local hospital.

The fact is, Eilerman pointed out, nobody can afford to take a chance on safety. Statistics show that such gambles do not pay off. He noted that the Council on Family Health has listed a few of the more commonplace risks.

The Family Health organization, sponsored as a public service by leading members of the drug industry, said women take chances on accidents occurring by—

Groping in the dark, instead of turning on the lamp or using a flashlight, if you have to get up during the night.
Forgetting to put the cap back on medicines after use and leaving them within reach of toddlers.

Carrying bundles so big you can't see the way ahead and not knowing what the next step will bring.

Letting snow and ice collect on the sidewalk and steps of your home, instead of cleaning it off before someone slips.

Not bothering to keep knives and other cutting tools sharpened. Dull knives can slip.

Leaving small children alone in the house while you go visiting or shopping.

All of the points mentioned have contributed to mishaps sustained by patients treated in the St. Elizabeth Hospital emergency room. Eilerman pointed out.

36 Children Get Gift Clothing From Jaycees

A shopping expedition planned by the Granite City Jaycees for 20 youngsters turned into a slightly larger project Monday afternoon when a total of 36 children received new dresses, jackets and shoes from the young men's service club.

"The list just grew, so we took care of them all," Ron Benthall, Jaycee project chairman, said yesterday. In addition to Grady Memorial Hospital Dec. 13.

tion to the 36 school-age youngsters outfitted with Christmas wearing apparel, 17 local families also were presented food baskets.

Originally, Jaycee members planned to donate only ten Yuletide gift baskets, Benthall said. The children were escorted by the Jaycees from school to Carp's Department store, where they selected clothing items or shoes. Benthall said the youthful guests and their packages later were taken home and Jaycee members also delivered the food baskets.

Youngsters participating in the annual Christmas program were referred to the Jaycees by Catholic Charities and Protestant Welfare Organization, Benthall explained.

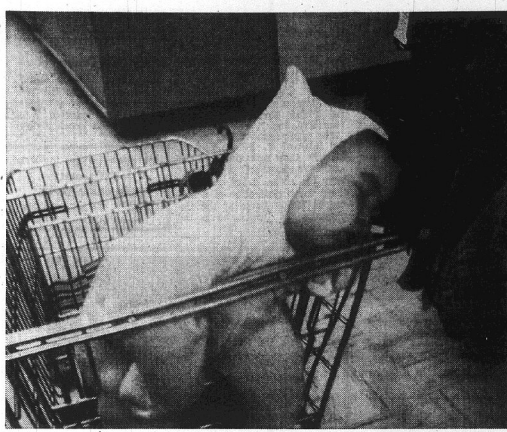

Assisting the project director were Miss Granite City—Ruth Ann Diaz; David Partney, Jaycee president; Bill Talley, vice-president; and Gary Davis.

The annual shopping trip for underprivileged youngsters and a children's party at St. Elizabeth Hospital are financed partly from donations to the Jaycees' "Bowling Sweepstakes" tournament, conducted by the club at local bowling lanes each November.

Motorcycle Recovered

A 1971 motorcycle, stolen from the home of Jack Huetter, 2340 Terminal Ave., before midnight Saturday, was recovered by police from a drainage ditch in the 3000 block of Dale Avenue, during the weekend and returned to the owner.

Urges Care in Use of Toys To Prevent Eye Injuries

During the holiday season, it is estimated that thousands of children will suffer unnecessary eye injuries caused by unsafe or mishandled toys received as Christmas gifts, according to the Illinois Optometric Association. Others of all ages will suffer eye injuries from their Christmas gifts during the coming year.

Fathers and sons receiving home-workshop tools should wear goggles with impact-resistant lenses while using the tools to protect their eyes from flying bits of wood, nails or whatever," Floyd Mizener, O.D., president of the Illinois Optometric Association, said.

Similar goggles are a must for home chemists also, who should have instruction in proper, safe laboratory procedures. "Inexpensive yet durable safety goggles can be purchased at most hobby or craft shops, but be certain the lenses are impact-resistant before buying," Dr. Mizener said.

Steel Output Drops To Two Year Low

Domestic steel mills poured 10,040,000 tons of steel during November, 659,000 tons less than October, and the lowest monthly output since November, 1968's total of 9,500,000 tons.

Open hearth production, which has been declining all year, slipped to 3,311,000 tons from October's output of 3,354,000 tons. Basic oxygen steelmaking dropped to 5,252,000 tons from October's 5,489,000 tons, while electric furnaces made 1,477,000 tons of steel in November, compared with 1,687,000 tons in October.

Eight Injured in 25 Quad-City Area Accidents

Four persons were injured in one accident and a Venice woman was hurt in a crash on McKinley Bridge in a series of 25 traffic accidents reported to Quad-City authorities since Monday. A total of eight persons were injured.

Four persons were injured when an auto driven by Kandy C. Fuller, 17, of 3117 Aubrey Ave., struck the rear of a car driven by Terry D. Hamm, 17, of 2701 Washington Ave., showing it into the auto of Charles L. Farrell, 38, of 2208 Adams St., at 8 p.m. Tuesday at St. Clair and Wayne avenues.

Farrell, a Granite City fireman, was admitted to St. Elizabeth Hospital with lacerations to the mouth, lower ribs and spine and a swollen ankle. X-rays were taken. Hamm was released after treatment of a pain in the neck and after x-rays were taken.

The Fuller girl and a passenger, Cynthia Blumenstock, 18, of 2221 Woodlawn Ave., complained of pains. Sharon Virginia Benny, 21, of 1036 Logan St., Venice, was admitted to St. Elizabeth Hospital, suffering injuries received in an accident on McKinley Bridge at 7:30 a.m. today.

Benny's auto was eastbound on the bridge and was being chased by police a few minutes before she was involved in a hit and run accident in St. Louis earlier this morning. Venice police said the auto skidded on an embankment at the top of the western approach to the bridge, damaging the front of the auto and pinning Mrs. Benny in the auto.

On impact, the windshield flew out of the car and struck the head of one of the passengers, 24-year-old Carl E. Lewis, 2416 Glenn Place, officers reported. Lewis escaped injury.

MORE ABOUT City Annexes

fications for the development and subdividing are subject to review by the council before construction work is authorized.

The council also adopted on final passage an ordinance limiting parking to two hours on the east side of lower street from the 2200 block to the 2300 block, with the parking limit effective from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily.

An ordinance that would fix the salary of Leon Scroggins, city attorney, at $12,500 for the current fiscal year which began last May 1, was placed on first reading in a revival of the long-standing dispute over the amount to be paid the attorney.

Although the council has agreed to pay Scroggins the $12,500 salary, the same as that paid the previous year, the legal means of providing payment has presented council members with a problem. The Finance Committee, in an effort to cut Scroggins' salary, fixed a salary payment of $6,000 in the new budget.

Scroggins submitted his resignation, but continued to handle the city legal work until he could be replaced. A month ago the council agreed a city attorney is needed and voted to pay Scroggins on the basis of his previous salary. Several council members contend the attorney's salary cannot be raised during the fiscal year after the appropriation ordinance is passed.

A motion to refer the entire problem to the Finance Committee was defeated in Monday night's meeting by a roll call vote of 9 to 4. The ordinance fixing the salary then was placed on first reading to give the council time to obtain several more legal opinions which it requested of Scroggins during the meeting.

SIU Student Teaches Poor Mexican Children

Ross Caputo, who at 26 has spent years working with the impoverished and disadvantaged, last summer took up with street urchins of Xalapa, Mexico, where he induced some to learn for their pesos.

Caputo, who first studied for the Catholic ministry and is now a graduate student in special education at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale, already had worked with children of migrant farmworkers in Indiana, Puerto Rican minority groups in New York, and impoverished people who had moved from rural areas into the near north side of St. Louis.

The involvement with the Mexican children began in the summer when he joined a study-travel program in psychology and cultural problems in the education of Mexican-American handicapped children. Sixteen trainees and a staff spent several weeks at the University of Veracruz at Xalapa, under sponsorship of SIU and the U.S. Office of Education.

"It all started at the sidewalk cross when the homeless Mexican boys sang and danced for whatever money American tourists wanted to give," said Caputo. "The boys, born in Italy, Italian American who has his bachelor's degree from St. Louis University."

Live in Shacks
"Where did these boys stay? Some stayed in small groups in shacks on the outskirts of Xalapa. Others slept on newspapers on sidewalks. There were a few who stayed with a mother in very poor circumstances who joined the others during the day to obtain money. There were many illegals."

But in spite of this kind of living, Caputo was quick to point out, they generally were pretty honest children, very independent and carefree.

Seeing these children begging for money started Caputo and some of the other class members to wonder if they could do something more than "just shell out." They obtained morning use of a classroom from the School of Special Education in Xalapa, included was an adjoining kitchen.

Caputo recruited street children by simply talking to them at the sidewalk cafes. He said he'd offer them a small bit of money if they could write their name. Most couldn't. Others, when they asked for money, would be told they could have some if they could count up to ten. When the children couldn't score he'd

Salvation Army to Distribute 1000 Toys

A childhood dream come true is the wonderful display of toys, games and books, arranged in "Santa's Toy Shop," at the Salvation Army Citadel, 19th Street and Grand Avenue.

No child will see the colorful collection, however but Christmas Eve or Christmas Day at least one toy will appear at the home of many local youngsters to brighten the Yuletide holiday.

More than 1000 toys await the arrival today of parents from the Quad-Cities' needy families who will select a toy for their children.

Youngsters do not come to the "Toy Shop," a policy conceived by the Salvation Army some years ago which permits the parents to choose and select the toys themselves as personal gifts.

New toys purchased with gifts contributed through the Salvation Army's "Tree of Lights" campaign have been augmented with new and good, used toys donated and collected from various local groups.

This year, toys were received from the Girl and Boy Scouts and Granite City Steel Co.'s Blast Furnace Division employees. Some were donated from private sources and others were collected at Rowland Lanes, where donors received three free games in exchange for a new or repairable toy.

Families eligible to receive Christmas food baskets through the Salvation Army's "Tree of Lights" program, are afforded the opportunity to select a toy for their children.

Hanukkah Begins Today, Continues Eight Days

The Jewish Feast of Lights or Feast of Dedication known as Hanukkah or Chanukah, begins at sundown today.

Hanukkah begins on the 25th day of the Jewish month of Kislev, which falls in December, and lasts for eight days.

The sundown of each day generally is marked by the lighting of one candle, with eight burning candles at the end of the eighth day.

The feast was started in 1645 A.D. by Judas Maccabaeus to honor the rededication of the Jewish Temple in Jerusalem, as three years before that date a Syrian conqueror had used the temple for idle worship.

Distribute Yule Baskets

The Pep Club of Prather Junior High School delivered four Christmas baskets of canned goods and groceries to needy families whose children attend the school. The four families who received the baskets were chosen by the school guidance counselors. In addition to the canned goods gathered by the students, $30 from the club treasury was used to buy groceries. Tom Turner, a teacher at the school, is the sponsor of the club.

Council Irks

7 to Mr. and Mrs. James R. Stogdill, 1277 Madison Ave., to manufacture plaques, figurines or related novelties.

He referred also to council action on Dec. 7 which referred to an alderman a request from Joyce Falkenheim for a special use permit to operate a beauty shop at 1644 Primrose Ave., instead of referring the matter to the plan commission.

Presley's letter said: "The Granite City Plan Commission Board is rather disturbed that the City Council would act on a request before their recommendation on the matter had been passed."

"This is in reference to the request of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Stogdill for a special use permit on property located at 1644 Primrose Ave., to produce and/or manufacture plaques, figurines and/or related novelties."

The subcommittee chairman, Mr. E. G. Schmitt, along with Mr. Henry Luaders and Mr. James Holland, investigated this matter and found the property unsuitable for this type of business. Upon the recommendation of the subcommittee, the board voted unanimously to deny the request.

"Also we refer you to the request of Joyce Falkenheim for a special use permit to operate a beauty shop at 1644 Primrose Ave. This request was referred to the aldermen of that particular ward rather than to the Plan Commission."

"If this is going to continue being the policy of the city council, the Plan Commission members are seriously considering resigning from the board."

Owe an Apology

Alderman Charles Moerlein told the council that "This (procedure) isn't right. I think we owe the board (the plan commission) an apology. Since no action was taken on the second matter (the Falkenheim request) I move that it be referred to the Plan Commission."

The council took no action, however, on its Dec. 7 approval of a use permit for the ceramic business at 2517 Madison Ave. Alderman Thomas Boker said he saw nothing wrong in referring such a matter to the alderman of the ward, and noted that all aldermen should be involved in such matters within their respective wards.

The council voted, on a motion by Moerlein, to receive Presley's letter and make it part of the minutes.

'Tree of Lights' Drive Aids 655 Area Families

A total of 655 needy families in the Quad-City area will benefit today and tomorrow from donations amounting to $838 contributed to date to the 1970 Salvation Army's "Tree of Lights" campaign. Additionally, 415 local youngsters already have received new clothing and shoes through the annual fund-raising drive.

With Christmas only two days away, the "Tree of Lights" fund still remains $1,634 short of its $10,000 goal—the minimum amount required to provide Christmas food baskets and clothes to those in need.

The symbolic Christmas tree, standing in Elizabeth Park opposite St. Elizabeth Hospital, is aglow with 334 shining lights. When the $10,000 goal is reached, all 400 bulbs will burn brightly. Lt. Donald K. Noyes, local Salvation Army command officer, reminds area residents today.

Boosting the fund by $550 were members of the Granite City Business and Professional Women's Club who served as Beltingers at the kettles last weekend. Emerson School PTA members added $88 to the drive, also through their belting efforts. Lt. Noyes said.

Additional donors whose contributions have illuminated one light or more, include: Miss Anna Plator; Quality Evaluation and Quality Control.
